The Rain and the Rainbow

Benjamin Selnick

Use key signature for G since you use F# throughout piece high and may be hard to play delicately; I would save it for later.

Flautando means flute-like--long swift bows which are good for a light airy sound.

Another variation on the accompanimental figure.

Faster section.
Using a slightly different shape to keep it above the vln.

This takes advantage of the open strings -- very easy for player and easy to play - notice how she is barely moving her left hand.

'Orchestrate' an accent-the flute helps bring out the important notes of the vln figure.
