Presents

The Third Annual KORENMAN LECTURE, a SOCIAL SCIENCES FORUM event

The Gender Revolution in the Philippines: Women's Migration and Social Transformations

with

Dr. Rhacel Parreñas

Professor of American Civilization & Sociology, Brown University

Professor Parreñas will speak on how processes of globalization simultaneously reinforce and challenge traditional gender norms, particularly in terms of the children left behind by migrant Filipinas. She has authored such books as The Force of Domesticity and Servants of Globalization.

Thursday, November 5th at 4:30 p.m., AOK Library Gallery

Light Refreshments will follow the talk.

This lecture is free and open to the public.

The event is cosponsored by the Social Sciences Forum, Office of the Provost, College of Arts, Humanities and Social Sciences, Honors College, American Studies, English Language Center, Language, Literacy and Culture Program, Modern Languages and Linguistics, and Sociology and Anthropology
