2nd Annual
UMBC Student Affairs Assessment Day
Thursday, February 15, 2007, 8:30 am-2:30 pm

Assessment in Student Affairs:

Local Approaches to a National Challenge

This event is purposefully designed as a local, low-cost, professional development opportunity for student affairs practitioners and other college student educators. Attendees can expect to increase their assessment knowledge and gain skills that will enable them to effectively assess programs effectiveness and student learning. The day will include approximately twelve program sessions that address three content areas:

Knowledge and Skill Building - Hands on sessions to enhance assessment specific knowledge and skills such as writing learning outcomes, research design, data analysis techniques, assessment ethics and politics, communicating results, or writing assessment plans.

Local Projects-Presentations that showcase and describe actual assessment projects conducted in a variety of student affairs functional areas.

National Trends-Accreditation, assessing student leadership programs, outcomes of experiential learning, or any other current topic from student affairs practice.

This event is co-sponsored by the UMBC Student Affairs Staff Development Committee, Maryland College Personnel Association (MCPA), and the Commission on Assessment for Student Development (CASD) of ACPA, College Student Educators International.
