

UMBC

AN HONORS UNIVERSITY IN MARYLAND

The Honors College at UMBC is a special option for students seeking a community of exceptional people for whom the quest for knowledge is its own reward. Admission to the Honors College is reserved for students of superior ability and abiding curiosity.

The Honors College at UMBC

The Honors College is for students who seek exceptional intellectual stimulation and challenge. Students have the opportunity to obtain a rich undergraduate experience through honors classes, interactions with visiting scholars, internships, study abroad and study-travel programs, and other extracurricular opportunities. One of the hallmarks of the program is specialized attention. Each semester, students receive advising from Honors College staff who are also available for consultation throughout the year. Membership in the Honors College is intentionally kept small. Limited to an enrollment of 500, the college seeks to have a maximum of 125 new freshmen matriculate each fall.

Academic Requirements

Honors College students take a series of six honors courses in different disciplines, Honors Forum and a college-level English composition course. Of the six honors courses, at least three must be seminars completed with a grade of A or B. Incoming freshmen are required to take Honors 100-Honors Forum, a two-credit introduction to the resources of UMBC and to life at a research university. Transfer students and students who apply to the Honors College as current UMBC students are not required to take Honors Forum. In addition, all honors students must complete an applied learning experience, such as an internship, a service-learning project or study abroad. Students must maintain a 3.25 cumulative GPA each year. All Honors College students who meet these requirements will be granted a Certificate of General Honors upon graduation.

How to Apply

To apply for admission to the Honors College, complete the application on the back of this page and submit it, along with the required documentation, to the Honors College. Students must also submit an application for undergraduate admission to UMBC.

Fall Deadlines:

Freshman –
January 15 (for scholarship consideration)

March 15 (final deadline)

Transfer and Current UMBC Students –

May 31 (final deadline)

Spring Deadlines:

December 1 – all applicants

Evaluation Standards

In reviewing applications, the Honors College places special emphasis on the written material submitted. The strength of the high school curriculum, grade point average (GPA) and standardized test scores are also very important. Students who wish to apply to the Honors College should have a strong high school GPA (3.5 or better) and good standardized test scores (SAT combined of 2100 or better, ACT of 31 or better).

Scholarships

All incoming Honors College applicants whose applications are postmarked by January 15 are eligible for consideration for the following Honors College scholarships:

The Honors College Fellows

Awarded to Honors College applicants who demonstrate the highest degree of achievement and academic curiosity. These awards range in amounts up to $22,000 per year.

The Honors College Scholarships

Awarded to outstanding freshmen, these scholarships provide $1,000 per year.

Invitation to Visit

Choosing a program of study is an important and difficult process. By visiting UMBC and meeting Honors College members and staff as well as faculty who teach honors courses, students can bring themselves closer to a sense of how their college education might begin—and why the Honors College might be the place to make that beginning. To schedule a visit or simply to receive more information, please call or write:

The following items are required to complete your application to the Honors College:

Writing Sample

An essay of approximately 600 words on one of the following topics:

- 1) Describe a work of art (a movie, a novel or poem, a piece of art or music) that had a profound effect on you, and explain why it had this effect.
- 2) Many of the problems of the 21st century will require interdisciplinary solutions. That is, to solve these problems it will be necessary to integrate knowledge and ways of thinking from different fields, such as from biology and public policy or automotive engineering and ergonomics, literature and neuroscience. The Honors College tries to foster such interdisciplinary thinking. Discuss a problem you have studied or know about that needs an interdisciplinary solution.

Interests and Activities

A full paragraph for each of the following questions:

1. What are your principal areas of academic interest? What are your career goals?
2. What are your areas of interest and involvement in and outside of school?
3. What service and leadership experience have you engaged through school or the community?
