The places denoted by stars are suspected points of origin for yellow fever. The regions with the pink tint illustrate the present extent of yellow fever. The countries filled with a black tone illustrate those areas that are at risk for yellow fever epidemics with potential changes brought about by global warming. Note the absence of yellow fever outbreaks in Asia and Australia. With changing climate and ever increasing global travel, these regions may also become hosts to yellow fever.

Material extracted from the WHO website. For more information see http://www.who.int/csr/resources/publications/yellowfev/CSR_ISR_2000_1/en/index.html